2009 Dedication

Allison Coutts & Angela Gugliotta

The class of 2009 is proud to dedicate this yearbook not just to one member of the Curry community who has greatly affected us, but two. Allison Coutts and Angela Gugliotta have provided a tandem that has made our time at Curry what it was.

Allison Coutts is the Director of Students Activities and has been working at Curry for the last three and a half years. Allison has dedicated a majority of her time to getting students involved on campus and has spent many days going above and beyond to make sure all are satisfied with their experience as a Curry student. First Year Orientation, Spring Fest Weekend, and Commencement are just a few of the many major projects that were skillfully guided and vigorously worked on by Allison. To ensure students and families were satisfied, Allison would go above and beyond her job description which often kept her office light burning bright into the night. Not only willing to work hard to make sure the masses were entertained, Allison was a great advisor to the Student Government. Her leadership and willingness to hear and implement new ideas made the student body stronger, wiser, and more active; all the while not asking for the credit she deserved. Today the Class of 2009 dedicates our yearbook to the long hours, guidance and continued commitment of Allison Coutts. We thank you for not only what you have done for the Class of 2009, but what you continue to do each and every day. Curry is lucky to have you.

Angela Gugliotta is the Assistant Director of Student Activities and also served as the Class of 2009 advisor. To say Angela has played a major role in the lives of students at Curry College is an understatement. Along with being the 2009 class advisor, Angela also has her fingerprints on several different areas of the Curry College Community. E.L.I.T.E., Curry Cares, Management Forum, Habitat for Humanity, and Community Service Coordinator is just a small segment of a long list. The truth is we aren't dedicating this yearbook to Angela because of what she has done for the community, but because of what she has done for our class. Day in and day out, it was evident that the Class of 2009 was first on her list of priorities. Angela created programs that helped make sure seniors would have an experience over the last year that would not only help them transition into the Real World, but allow them to have a year that they would remember forever. With this commitment Angela set aside much of her personal time, but for every dinner that went cold or for every plan that was canceled, Angela provided another piece of the puzzle that completed the experience at Curry for the Class of 2009. Today the Class of 2009 dedicates our yearbook to the fun and memories you have provided to us with your hard work and most of all your precious time. Please always know the impact you have made and the class that will never forget you.

To quote Jackie Robinson, "A life is not important except in the impact it has on other lives." You both have certainly impacted the lives of Class of 2009 and again we thank you!

President's Message

Greetings to the Curry College Class of 2009!

On behalf of the entire Curry College Community, our faculty, our staff, our alumni and most importantly the College itself, please accept my congratulations on becoming a Curry College alum.

I am both hopeful and optimistic that your College years at Curry will be among the best years of your life. You will have learned much, grown, and both formed relationships and acquired skills that will last you and benefit you for your lifetime. We're proud of the fact that you're a Curry College alum, and we hope that you are also. You should be, as you are graduates of a great and growing Institution.

As you periodically flip through the pages of this yearbook over time, I hope that time and again it will bring back wonderful memories of Curry College and of your colleagues and classmates at Curry.

Come back and visit your College often. Continue to participate in its success and growth. We need the involvement and support of each and every alum to continue our great and important work.

Best wishes to you and yours for much continued personal and professional health, happiness and success.

Sincerely,
Kenneth K. Quigley, Jr.

History of Curry College

Anna Baright & Samuel Silas Curry

Curry College was founded in 1879 as the School of Elocution and Expression by Anna Baright. In 1882 Anna Baright married Samuel Silas Curry (Dean of the Boston University School of Oratory) and, in 1885, the name of the school was changed to the School of Expression. The new name indicated emphasis on natural expression, as distinguished from the artificial formulas associated with elocution. Samuel Silas Curry was given permission by the Trustees of Boston University to merge his private classes into the new school. In 1888, the School was chartered by the state and Curry left his Boston University position. Curry served as the school's head, called variously over the years, Principal, Dean, and President; his wife served as teacher and eventually what was called Dean. The couple ran the School until S. S. Curry's death in 1921. Anna Baright Curry died in 1924.

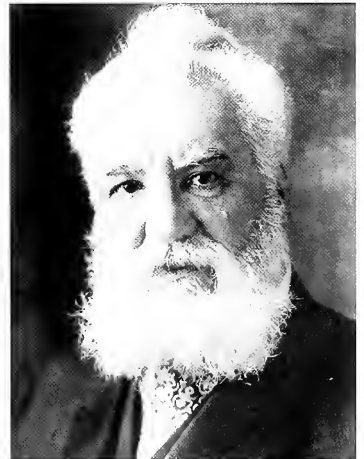

For nearly a decade after Curry's death, the school remained much as he had left it. Thereafter, the Institution added a wide variety of courses in and out of the area of speech and, in 1938, was given the power to grant degrees. The title was officially changed from school to college on April 21, 1943 and achieved accreditation in 1970.

During the first several decades of its existence, the institution occupied five different locations in Boston, the last of them being two houses on Commonwealth Avenue. The College moved to its present location in Milton in the 1950s.

Alexander Graham Bell & Curry College

Alexander Graham Bell's father, Boston University Professor Alexander Melville Bell, a leading elocutionist, was a valued advisor of Curry and endowed a chair for the School of Expression. When the School gave the elder Bell its highest honor, the diploma of honor, in 1899, it addressed him as one of its founders.

One of Curry's Boston University School of Oratory teachers was Alexander Graham Bell. Bell's opening lecture in 1873 stimulated Curry with regard to the possibilities of the science of voice. According to one of Curry's daughters, Curry was present in 1876 when Bell made his first telephone call requesting help from Mr. Watson. Bell was the Chancellor of the School of Expression from 1907 until his death in 1922.

Atonement

by Megan Whalen

You lurk in negative spaces
The glow you once possessed has dissipated
The warmth we felt from a summers day has faded
I can get you back there, I swear

The anguish is coming over you, I see it all around
Like resonating laughter trapped inside your soul
Your eyes are swallowing your dreams
I'm struggling to get you back, to who you used to be

Your anger haunts the sacred corners of my mind
You glance at me with such utter distrust
Breaking my heart isn't enough, you crave more
I want to get you back, to those days when you were free

If you had taken my hand you would see
There's more to life than the misery that enraptures you
I see your kindred spirit slipping from reality's grasp
I can't get you back, safe from the breath of doom

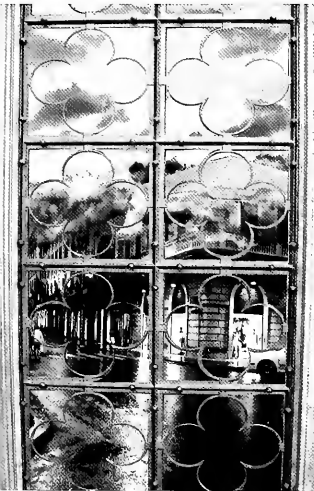

I'm sorry

Slipping

by Emma Lown

I could see his body
dissolving into the pavement as he ran,
feet pounding hard enough
to sink into concrete.
He needed this earth
to grab hold, to root himself back in before faceless ghosts
could suck him into the shadows of looming buildings.
A paradoxical dilemma,
wanting to disappear and needing to stay in this city that haunted him.
He could never get away,
break the potent feeling of connectedness.
He once whispered to me that he breathed right along with this city, its pulse so loud
he could hear it everywhere.
I wanted him to slow down
but his feet wouldnt stop moving.
I yelled at him to stop and he said, Dont worry Im not going anywhere
but I couldnt see him anymore.

Mountain People

by Richard Guerra

And from the mountains come full flocks of men, women and children each one so beautiful, so full of life, flowing with the soft fabrics of their clothing
ruffling along behind them

With no aches in their bones
they race along the warm dirt of the slopes to copper fields kissed with refreshing beads from the water of the sky

They close their eyes as their bare legs greet the cold, surprising tingles
Their bodies stroke the field
like the back of a beautiful animal

They come open-handed, eyes closed, mouths open wide and smiling and the water comes down into their smooth palms not in drops of rain but long streams at a pressure neither scathing nor sprinkling

Their hands fill and overflow
Cold drops smack against their bare toes
nestled in the cool grass

Drawing their hands close to their lips breathing deep the sweet valley air
they drink full and long from their cupped hands

They let the water dribble down their chins, their necks
let it settle across their chests and shoulders feel its chill as it soaks into their clothes

They do not wipe their mouths
They do not dry their shirts
They only drink again

Doctor I Have Something To Say

by Paul McKane

His gait was jaunty, his posture was true,
His cheeks were red and his eyes bright blue.
No one would guess he was seventy-nine,
Mr. K. was robust, and appeared to be fine.
He wore a sweater from his working days,
A handsome blue knit with postal displays.
For over forty years he delivered the mail,
Used only twelve sick days, was otherwise hale.
Doctor I have something to say.
Doctor, can I go home today?

He arrived with a daughter, and charming wife,
He followed behind, so unlike him in life.
A suitcase was emptied, clothes hung on the rack;
He came to my office and let his family unpack.
He was mistaken, thinking me a physician
Who could influence the fate of this decision.
He knocked at the door, sat in the chair,
And began to question the plan for his care.
Doctor I have something to say.
Doctor, can I go home today?

Papers were signed, and directives provided,
His family devastated by the fate life decided.
Good-bye was protracted; guilt feeling was high.
But it was time to leave, and time to cry.
It was now late in the day, and he was alone,
He picked at his supper, and glanced at the phone.
When the sun went down he often roamed,
But today was different as he thought of home.
Doctor I have something to say.
Doctor, can I go home today?

A troubled sleep endured, he awoke at first light,
To vigorously attack the source of his plight.
He dressed in his sweater, walked to the door,
And greeted the staff that he passed on the floor.
An early visitor they thought he must be
Just leaving the loved one that he came to see.
Through the door, to the porch, and down the stair,
He walked toward the street with a confident air.
But in the lot the nurse who admitted last night
Halted the patient from completing his flight.
Doctor I have something to say.
Doctor, where am I today?

Mr. K. had clear memories from a time far past,
But current thoughts were not meant to last.
He recalled that he was the school baseball star,
The terror of the diamond, who hit the ball far.
He related that in 42 with the big game tied at 4
His was the home run that gave the winning score.
He asked a name, he asked the time, he asked the time again,
And then he asked a third time, with no ability to retain.
Doctor I have something to say.
Doctor, where am I today?

Eleven months have elapsed, and his memory has faded,
He walks steady and straight, but his gait has abated.
He attempts to converse, but often loses his thought,
He has some incontinence that the disease has wrought.
His family comes daily, completely devoted;
As his recognition falters, they are often not noted.
He is secure in their hearts as loving husband and dad,
But the deterioration of his essence hurts so bad.
Doctor, I dont know what to say.
Doctor, who am I today?

CURRY COLLEGE CLASS OF 2009

Class of 2009 Message

On behalf of the Class of 2009 Student Government Association officers, I would like to congratulate you for reaching such a milestone in your life. Whether you were at Curry for the full four years or you transferred in, we all were able to enjoy what Curry had to offer us as students. As we graduate in this tough economic crisis, we can not forget where we came from. Know that in times of struggle, we are Alumni of Curry College and we have a network of other Alumni as well to help us get through the tough times. We have made friendships that will last a lifetime, and memories we will never forget. Dont be afraid to try new things, and never settle for something, when you know you can do better. I was fortunate to act as your class president these last two years, and want to thank everyone for the support you have given me and the rest of the SGA officers. With out you, I truly would not be the person I am today. As a class we have accomplished a lot of things, and we should all be proud of that. A special thanks to Joe DiMaria for all his hard work on the yearbook, without him we would not have one. I wish you all the best of luck in your future endeavors and remember to keep in touch with faculty, staff, and more importantly each other! (After all, almost everybody has Facebook now!)

Yours truly,
Catherine E. Walper
President, Class of 2009

Our baby is graduating! The years sure have flown

We are so very proud of your accomplishments-- academic and athletic. Most of all we are proud of the caring young woman you have grown to be.

Enjoy life to the fullest, be happy, and always live your dreams!

All our love,
Mom and Dad

Alexander & Marcus Skapars

Marcus and Alexander,

The years have gone by so quickly, and your determination seems to have grown stronger with each year. You've both worked very hard for all your achievements as you finish each major chapter in your life you are ready to move on to the next.

We love the way your eyes glimmer when you talk about your dreams. Never forget those goals, always keep them in sight. Never lose the feeling of achievement. Never stop believing in yourself. Enjoy what you have accomplished and look forward to your future. Take with you all you have achieved and be proud of yourselves. We are very proud of you boys.

Love always,

Mom and Dad

Tracy Shapiro

Tracy,

Wherever you go, whatever you do, we will always be right beside you to love you and cheer you on!

We are proud of you beyond words and love you more than you could ever imagine!

May all of your dreams come true!

With all of our love & hugs & kisses forever & ever,

Mom, Dad, Jamie & "The Boys"

"The knowledge you take with you,
the friends you keep,
and the memories you treasure...
these are the things that make college
an experience,
not just a degree."

Congratulations!

Love,
Mom, Athena and Christopher

Gregory P. Zervalis

Do not follow where the path may lead. Go, instead, where there is no path and leave a trail.

-- Ralph Waldo Emerson

Congratulations Chip!

With our unconditional love and support,

Mom, Dad and Dorothy

Lindsay Guinan

Four years...so much has happened and we couldn't be happier! We are so proud of you as our daughter, a sister, and now a nurse and bride-to-be. Look forward with joy to a beautiful time!

We Love
You!

Mom, Dad,
and John

Michael Larson

Mike,

You have learned many important life lessons in your four years at Curry. We are very proud of you and your successes as you close this chapter of your life. As you begin the next chapter remember the key to success is in your attitude; stay positive and you will continue to succeed. If you dream it U-Conn do it!

We love you,

Mom Dad, Tim, and Jo
Gram, Gramp, Amma and Buddy.

Lauren Brighenti

Congratulations Lauren!!

We are so proud of you!! As you follow your path through life, we hope all your dreams will come true.

Love Mom, Dad, Anthony & Marclely
